FOR GOVERNOR
Sergeant Sam W. T. Lanham

TO CORRESPONDENTS

Kindly have your communications to reach us as early as Tuesday morning.

In our last issue we published a financial statement showing the receipts and disbursements of the committee for the reunion. It shows that more money has been expended than taken in. Messrs. H. E. Hume, J. C. Pipkin and J. M. Thacker made a note in the bank for $105.00 which has been due some little time. Now of course these gentlemen can probably renew as the bank people are very accommodating, but it is not fair that they should carry this burden. Mr. Thacker is gone and Messrs. Hume and Pipkin certainly have done enough for the reunion without having this note to carry, therefore, we would suggest that some plan be adopted to raise the money and pay this indebtedness off and be rid of it. The published list shows a good many things, one is that some people have contributed liberally while others have not, etc. What it does not show is the relative amount of labor given for which not even thanks have been rendered and no men in town deserve more praise for hard work done, money and time given than H. E. Hume and J. C. Pipkin. An old adage says "you can drive a willing horse to death." Now these two should be relieved of this note. Suggestions are in order.

We have received many compliments on the increased size and improved appearance of the Stayer, but so far only seventy-five on subscription from town readers. Now we have always done all we could for the up-building of the town and certainly think we deserve a more liberal patronage from the people. In a community like this where people are trying to build up a good town and prosperous country around it, no one individual or firm can live for themselves alone or hope to get all they can without paying a share of the general expense necessary to the success of the town. We have sent many thousands of papers, out for which we have not received a cent. Some of the business people have given us liberal and steady patronage, others what they were compelled to, and that grudgingly. Only three business men send a paper abroad.

Now let us see how other towns do these things. Hereford, our neighbor, for example, The Reporter charges just twice as much for advertising space as we do, and gets it, their subscription price is $1.50 per year and every business man in town advertises and each one pays cash for the paper beside. The Hereford bank, alone, pays from $20 to $50 per month for advertising space and job work.

SMITH, WALKER & CO

The Reporter sends to subscribers only. The difference is just this: Hereford people realize that no town can succeed without a paper, and a paper cannot do good work unless it is supported. A paper must pay its running expenses if it is respected and unless it is, it is no credit to the town. We have been struggling along trying to get out a paper that reflects the prosperity of the town, but it is up hill work with the support we get, we therefore must either get better patronage or curtail the paper to fit what we do get.

The Stayer office has put in a telephone to aid us in gathering news from the lower country as well as other purposes. Now help us to make the best paper in the country.

SEPTEMBER

The golden-rod is yellow.
The corn is turning brown;
The trees in apple orchards
With fruit are bending down;
The gentian's bluest fringes
Are curling in the sun;
In dusty pods the milkweed
Its hidden silk has spun.
The sedges flaunt their harvest
In every meadow nook,
And asters by the brookside
Make asters in the brook.
From dewy lanes at morning
The grapes sweet odors rise;
At noon the road sides flutter
With yellow butterflies.
By all these lovely tokens
September days are here,
With summer's best of weather
And autumn's best of cheer.

WHEN SCHOOL LETS IN.

Vacation's mighty fine o' course,
But there are drawbacks, too.
A fellow's folks is always sure
To find him work to do.
An' most the fellows go away
To spen' vacation time,
And there ain't no one to play
With only girls. But i'm

Right in with all that's goin' on,
I know just what to do,
An' where to go to scare up fun
The whole vacation through.
The worstest thing there is about
Vacation is the end—
Just when you know you've only got
A week or so to spend.

A loafin' around the swimmin' hole
An' catchin' speckled trout,
An' playin' cow boy too, an' all
You've done since school let out;
It makes a fellow catch his breath
And wear a sheepish grin
To think of all the fun he'll miss
When school lets in

Parades is mostly lots of fun,
But one knocks out that rule—
That's the parade that my class makes
The firstest day of school.
You ought to see us grammar kids,
Our line is fearful thin
As we go stringing up the hill
When school lets in.

We every one just hate to go.
But that don't do no good;
We've got to go, although we all
Would rather be cutting wood.
An' pile the woodbox heapin' full,
An' dry the dishes, too,
An' help old Richard feed the stock
An' dust, an'—wouldn't you?

But after school's been in a day,
And we get straightened out,
And get our lessons good, we like
The things we learn about.
At recess we play prisoner's base,
An' pullaway, an' spin
Our tops. Then, after all, we're glad
That school lets in.

—Raymond Fuller Ayers.
